A nearly spiritual music experience

25 Washington Street, Saratoga Springs

Some venues elevate performance art to a near religious experience. In the short time since its grand opening in March 2020, UPH has developed such a reputation. A blend of sacred architectural details, heavenly-sounding acoustics and celestial-inspired lighting make this 685-seat in-the-round venue the ideal place in the Capital Region to enjoy an intimate performance by some of the top artists in music, dance and more.

New home, same great theatre

251 N. Peal Street, Albany

Capital Repertory Theatre's new home is an amazing blend of contemporary and historic architectural features. Located in a completely renovated 19th century commercial bakery, the theatre offers more seating, better sight lines, amazing acoustical and lighting attributes, improved ADA accessibility and most essentially, more bathrooms. theREP now offers the optimum conditions for YOU to experience professional theatre in the Capital Region. If you haven't visited, please join us for a performance this spring.
